

The Misfitz / Tuscaloosa, Alabama

Band Directories Copyright 2005

| | | | | |
|-------------------------------|--|---------------------------|--------------------------|---|
| Brief Description | The Misfitz started out playing for the kids at Junior High and then for the frats at Alabama and eventually did a Saturday television show called "Tuscaloosa Bandstand," hosted by Tiger Jack Garrett. The Misfitz admired and competed with another local band called The Gents. (See directory) Regarding his '60s music days, a member of the Misfitz in Tuscaloosa, Chuck Leavell remembers, " It was a wonderful place and a wonderful time for all of us, and was sort of a 'breeding ground' for musicians." (Read Chuck's narrative about the band in the book.) | | | |
| Year Established | | | | |
| Favorite Venues | Tuscaloosa YMCA, Frats at Alabama, 'Ole Miss, Miss. State, Auburn, and other points along the 'Chitlin' Circuit' | | | |
| Music Genre/Recordings | | | | |
| Performer | Now Resides | Instrument | Years In The Band | Notes |
| Leavell, Chuck | Charlane Plantation, GA | Keyboards, Guitar, Vocals | | After the Misfitz broke up, Chuck played with The South Camp (Paul Hornsby) and then Sundown (Lou Mullenix and Cort Pickett), then the Allman Brothers, (keyboard solo on Jessica) then Sea Level and is now the virtual "Sixth Rolling Stone." He divides his time between rock starrng and tree growing |
| MacAllister, Jonathan | | Bass, Vocals | | |
| Etheridge, Rodney | | Guitar | | |
| Johnson, Bill | | Drums | | |
| Brown, Ronnie | | Rhythm Guitar | | Replaced Etheridge and added a new spark to the band |